Training takes place in a virtual facility, with lessons taught by leading experts. Through patient simulations and hands-on activities, the program covers a wide variety of topics, including:

- Medical/forensic history taking
- Physical head-to-toe examination
- Evidence collection
- Medical/forensic documentation
- Crime lab analysis
- Courtroom testimony

In the clinical rooms, learners observe then conduct a full virtual medical forensic exam. They practice skills to care for patients from different populations, including transgender patients, older adults, adolescents, cisgender males, and incarcerated patients.

The Virtual Practicum is remastered from the 2008 original version, augmented with new patient simulations, interviews with master practitioners, and conversations on cutting edge topics. Led by EVAWI, the Virtual Practicum was developed in partnership with the US Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women, the Academy of Forensic Nursing, and the International Association of Forensic Nurses.

A tool for health care providers AND experienced examiners

The Virtual Practicum gives forensic examiners and other health care providers a strong foundation in trauma-informed care for sexual assault patients. It's also a valuable continuing education tool for experienced practitioners, delivering the latest information and approaches to care.
